PROVISION OF CONSULTANCY SERVICES ON REGULATORY IMPACT ASSESSMENT OF INSURANCE CLAIMS MANAGEMENT IN KENYA

BACKGROUND AND DESCRIPTION OF OBJECT OF ASSESSMENT

The insurance sector plays an important role in protecting commercial entities and households against losses incurred on specified risks. Insurers accept these risks in consideration for receiving a premium and, in turn, promise that a valid claim will be paid. Claims management therefore, is the process by which insurers fulfill their contractual obligations to policyholders. It is therefore a core issue for the protection of insurance policyholders and hence a priority concern for IRA. From the insurance company viewpoint, claim management is a key element in the competition between insurance providers and for the improvement of industry's public image. Claims management is a key issue in the Authority's 2013-2018 strategic plan and has also been highlighted as a major strategic focus in 2018-2022 strategic plan going forward.

Over time, various measures to address issues around claims management generally in the insurance industry and specifically at the individual company level have been instituted by IRA. Among the issues are;

- i. proposal for amendment of Insurance Act to reduce time taken to settle claim from 90 to 30 days,
- ii. targeted inspections to companies performing poorly in claims settlement,
- iii. adoption of risk-based supervision,
- iv. adoption of Risk Based Capital,
- v. enhanced disclosure through publication of claims settlement statistics and
- vi. issuance of claims management guidelines. The aim of the guidelines is to enhance efficiency, transparency, disclosure of information to policyholders during claims processing and increase consumer.

Problem statement

Regulation is of critical importance in shaping the welfare of society. The purpose of regulation is to ensure that the regulatory lever works effectively, so that regulations and regulatory frameworks are in the public interest. Regulations aim at supporting the rule of law through initiatives to simplify the law and improve access to it, as well as improve appeal systems. Increasingly, regulations seek to support quality of life and social cohesion, through enhanced transparency by seeking out the views of the regulated, and programmes to reduce red tape for citizens.

Claims management practices in the insurance industry remains an area of great challenge and a key pain point to insurance customers hence the claims management guidelines that were issued by the Authority.

Despite issuance of the guideline coupled with other regulatory initiatives by the Authority, the insurance industry continues to be characterized by delays in claims settlement leading to frustrations of policy holders.

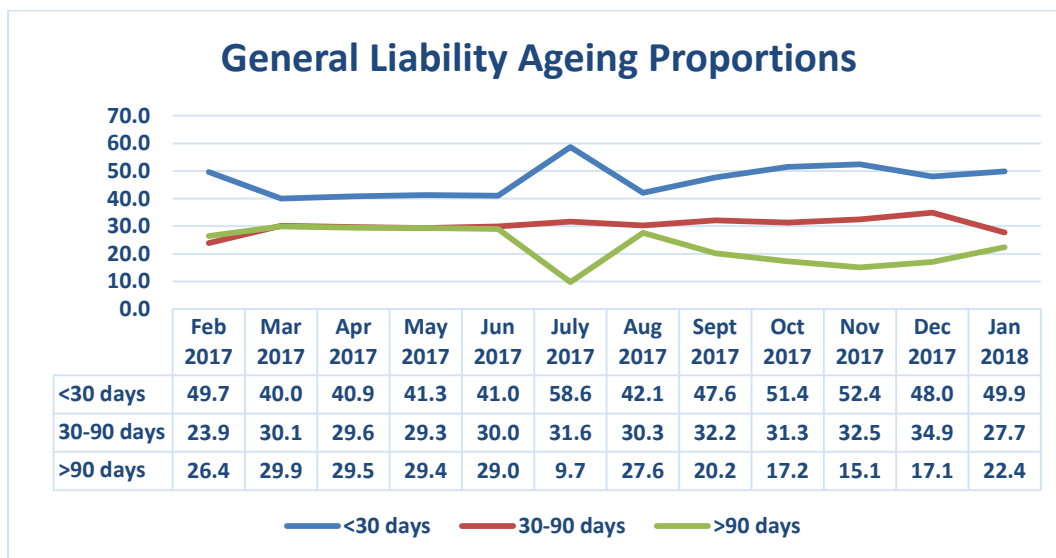

This is further evidenced by the claims aging proportions depicted in the figures 1, 2, 3 below and by the high number of claims related complaints reported to the Authority every day estimated to be between 90-95 percent.

80 percent of long term claims are paid within 30 days, 10 to 18 percent within 30 -90 days while around 4percent are paid after more than 90 days.

Figure 2

For general liability on average less than 50 percent of claim are paid within 30 days, about 30 percent of claims are paid within 30-90 days, while it takes more than 90 days to for 20 percent of general liability claims to be settled.

Only Less than 20 percent of general non-liability claims are settled within less than 30 days. 80 percent of claims in this category are paid within 30 -90days while the rest are paid after 90 days.

These challenges continue to persist despite there being in place claims management guidelines.

There is therefore need to undertake evidence-based regulatory impact assessment of the claim's management guidelines to support policy coherence in claims management, assess institutional capacities to identify and drive reform priorities; and not least paying more attention to the voice of users, who need to be part of the regulatory development process

PURPOSE, OBJECTIVES AND SCOPE OF WORK

The primary purpose of this consultancy is to undertake an independent evidence based regulatory impact assessment of claims management in the industry and specifically;

- i. identify rationale and policy objectives of the claims management guidelines with public interest focus on its intentions i.e. what market failures were identified and public policy objectives defined)
- ii. Assess institutional capacities to identify and drive claims management reform priorities; and
- iii. Assess the voice of users along the claim's management value chain
- iv. Assess the level of consultation, communication, co-operation and co-ordination
- v. Identify gaps and challenges in the claim's guidelines; and
- vi. Based on the findings, develop a road map on what needs to happen next

ASSESSMENT FRAMEWORK AND QUESTIONS

The objective of this consultancy is to contribute to understanding of more effective approaches to claims management. Such an understanding should lead to a clear recognition of the effectiveness of different policy initiatives implemented. This should help IRA to focus more on interventions that generate a greater impact.

Relying on quantitative data and qualitative information from a variety of sources the assessment will focus on:

- i. What was intended?
- ii. What was implemented?
- iii. What has changed?
- iv. What was achieved?
- v. What remains to be done

EVALUATION APPROACH AND METHODOLOGY

Based on the objectives of the assessment, this section indicates a possible approach, methods, and processes for the assessment. It is expected that this assessment will employ a theory-based (re-constructing the theory of change), a participatory and a mixed-methods approach. It is essential for the assessment to be participatory in nature and include views of all key stakeholders. Key background documents, together with a contact list of all relevant informants will be provided to the selected applicant once a contractual agreement has been made.

Methodological rigor will be given significant consideration in the assessment of the proposals. Hence bidders are invited to interrogate the approach and methodology proffered in the ToR and improve on it, or propose an approach they deem more appropriate. In their proposal, bidders should refer to triangulation, sampling plan and methodological limitations and mitigation measures. The proposed approach and methods should be guided at a minimum, draw on the following methods:

Desk review of background documents and other relevant data, including strategy documents, monitoring reports, evaluation reports, management responses and other documents judged relevant;

Literature search and review of material informing the operating model of the RIA based on latest developments in undertaking similar assessments; This should include how the guidelines were developed and how consultative the process was.

Key informant interviews with relevant stakeholders at all levels

Focus group discussions with stakeholders

Cost-effectiveness analysis of the claims management guidelines and overall approach; and

Structured interviews with all selected players along the value chain

The assessment should include the following steps:

Step 1: Desk review of relevant background documents and literature search.

The consulting firm will review key background documents to understand the context in which the guidelines is implemented

Step 2: Preparation of Inception Report that includes assessment methodology and tools.

The methodology should be prepared to cover all the intended objectives of the evaluation. The assessment methodology design will be finalized in agreement with IRA and the Inception Report should be prepared based on common methodology for conducting regulatory impact assessments.

Step 3: Data collection. The application of mixed-methods (qualitative and quantitative) is expected

Step 4: Data analysis. Collected data should be analyzed by using relevant analysis methods that should be clearly described in the report.

Step 5: Sharing preliminary findings. The consulting firm will share preliminary findings with IRA. While feedback will be taken into consideration and incorporated into the draft report, the consultants are encouraged to guard against validity threats, such as personal bias.

Step 6: Draft report. The consultant prepares a draft report, with conclusions, lessons learned and recommendations drawn from the data. The report structure should follow and shall be assessed based on a structure to be agreed on during the inception meeting.

Step 7: Presentation of assessment conclusions and recommendations. The consultant will present the final draft assessment conclusions and recommendations to IRA and other key stakeholders in a multi-stakeholder workshop, using a PowerPoint presentation and other methodologies for presenting in a participatory manner. Recommendation of the assessment should also be presented and prioritized.

Step 8: Finalization of the assessment report. The consultant will incorporate comments and feedback on the findings and recommendations from IRA and other key stakeholders to finalize the report. The final evaluation report should be submitted to the Chief Executive Officer, IRA.

Good practices not covered therein are also to be followed. Any sensitive issues or concerns should be raised with the IRA designated Project Manager as soon as they are identified.
